Sport rules and procedures

The course

Para cross-country skiing courses are designed with uphill, downhill and flat sections.

The sit skiing competitions are held on a separate 3km course. The course system consists of loops formed with cut-offs, ranging in length from 900m, 2.5km and 3km.

The standing and vision impaired competitions are held on a separate course network 5km in length. The course system consists of various courses formed with cut-offs, ranging in length from 1.3 km, 2.5km and 5km. The 5km loop includes sections of the sit skiing course.

Guides

Athletes in the vision impaired class ski with guides. The guide is responsible for the safety of the competitor and may lead or follow the competitor on the same track or ski alongside on the parallel track. The competitor and guide are considered a team so the guide's name must appear in all appropriate places including entry lists, start lists and results. Guides also receive medals, where relevant.

Techniques

For standing and vision impaired events, Para cross-country skiing is raced in two techniques, free and classic (also known as classical). These techniques alternate between Games (see below for information on techniques used at PyeongChang 2018 and Beijing 2022).

Classic/classical technique

Classic technique involves striding forward on pre-set parallel tracks. The toe and heel of the foot are secured in the ski and the athlete moves his or her skis back and forth in a parallel motion. In the classic technique, the skis are prepared with kick wax.

Free technique

In the free technique, only the toe is secured to the ski and the athlete moves his or her feet from side to side to propel them forward. In the free technique, which is considerably faster than the classic, the skis are prepared with only glide wax and forward motion is created by using the edges of the skis, also called skating.

In both techniques, competitors use ski poles to improve their forward propulsion.

Scoring

Scoring in Para cross-country skiing is designed for fairness for all competitors. Before competition starts, a classification system is used to group athletes according to how they race – sitting, standing or with a vision impairment – and the impact on activity. Race times are adjusted for each group.

Results are calculated by multiplying a percentage by an athlete's actual race time. The percentage is specific to each sport class within each impairment group, is based on the skiing technique used (classic or free, or neither, in the case of sit skiers), and is used to determine the overall ranking of competitors.

Delta time is the time (real time) the skier would have to ski faster in order to tie the winner's result (in adjusted time).

Relay exchange

The relay exchange does not contain a physical tag. Rather, the arriving athletes ski across an exchange finish line placed five metres ahead of the exchange departure line in an adjacent lane. Departing athletes cannot leave their 'start line' until the arriving athlete has crossed their 'finish line'. A relay team in the Paralympics can be made up of two, three or four athletes (plus guides) with athlete(s) able to ski more than one leg.

CHANGES SINCE PYEONGCHANG 2018 PARALYMPIC WINTER GAMES

In PyeongChang, the long distance cross-country skiing events were raced using the free technique, in Beijing they will be classic technique. In PyeongChang the middle distance (5km/10km) and sprint events were skied using the classic technique; in Beijing they will be free technique.

DIFFERENCES FROM THE OLYMPIC GAMES

- With three classes and two genders there are up to six competitions per day compared with up to two per day during the Olympic Games.

- Depending on the final schedule, some events may be run concurrently, i.e. two races (two genders same class or same gender in the standing and vision impaired classes) running simultaneously.
- Athletes in the vision impaired class ski with guides, guides names are included in the start and results lists and guides also receive medals.
- Results are based on calculated times derived from applying the athlete's percentage to their actual time.
- The relay exchange does not contain a physical tag. Rather, the arriving athletes ski across an exchange finish line placed five metres ahead of the exchange departure line in an adjacent lane. Departing athletes cannot leave their 'start line' until the arriving athlete has crossed their 'finish line'.
- A relay team in the Paralympics can be made up of two, three or four athletes (plus guides as appropriate) with athlete(s) able to ski more than one leg.

Sprint qualification and heats

The 12 fastest athletes qualify for the semifinals of the sprint standing and sitting events, and the eight fastest for the semifinals of the events for vision impaired skiers.

The semifinals and finals comprise the 'heats'. From the semifinals, the six fastest competitors will qualify for the final of the sitting and standing events; the four fastest will qualify for the final of the vision impaired events.

Interval start

For long-distance and middle-distance events, plus the qualification round of the sprint events, competitors start at intervals of 30 seconds (which can be changed at the discretion of the jury).

Mass start

Used for the mixed relay and open relay, with teams starting simultaneously, lined up using angled start lines in the shape of an arrow. Each event has four stages (legs). At the end of each leg the athlete tags off to a teammate who completes the next leg until all legs are finished. Teams are ranked based on the total finish time.

Equipment

All competition equipment and uniform must comply with World Para Nordic Skiing equipment rules and IPC manufacturer identifications guidelines.

Skis

Made from fibreglass, classic skis are usually 25-30cm taller than the height of a skier. They are light, weighing less than 0.45kg each, and narrow, with curved tips and a cambered midsection, which is thicker and arched.

Free technique skis are stiffer and 10-15cm shorter for greater manoeuvring, with tips that curve less than classical skis.

The underside of both types has a groove down the centre to keep the ski straight when going downhill.

Sit skis

Athletes with a lower-limb disability can use a sledge mounted on cross-country skis instead of skis. The chair in which they sit includes seat belts and other strapping.

Tiebreak rules

A tie of two or more competitors with the same time remains as such. The exception is a tie in a qualification race of the sprint events. If two athletes have the same time (to the hundredth of second) in the qualification round, and both or only one of them qualifies for the next round, the following tiebreakers will be used:

- Calculated time, using all available digits
- World Para Nordic Skiing (WPNS) points from the current season
- Best World Cup result from the current season

In the mass start events (relays), the ranking of standing athletes involved in a photo finish will be established according to the order they crossed the vertical plane of the finish line by the toe of the front foot.

In sitting events, in a photo finish, the competitor whose torso crosses the line first is ahead.

If an athlete falls in crossing the line, the competitor is ranked according to when all parts of her/his body cross the line without any outside help.

If a photo finish cannot decide the ranking, the competitors remain tied.

In the case of a 'dead heat' in the sprint semifinals, the competitor with the better qualification time is ranked ahead. If there is a tie in the finals and the photo finish cannot determine the ranking, the competitors remain tied.

Disqualification rules

Disqualification is used for major infractions and for infractions with a clear impact on the final result of a competition. A competitor may be disqualified, for example, for intentionally obstructing another athlete.

In case of disqualification among the medallists, all competitors ranked after the disqualified competitor will be ranked one place higher.

Protests/appeals

Technical protests must be submitted in writing within 15 minutes of the posting of the unofficial results, along with the payment of 100 euros (or equivalent in RMB). The competition jury handles the protest. If the protest is upheld, the fee will be refunded, and if the protest is rejected, the sum will go to World Para Nordic Skiing, in accordance with World Para Nordic Skiing Rules and Regulations.

The jury decides on any protests that are made, and applies appropriate penalties or corrections to the results if necessary.

Lapping

In the relay events, a competitor or team may be stopped by competition officials if overtaken – 'lapped' – by the leader(s) of the event.
